Physicians Say His Malady Is Bright's Disease Although Still In A Mild Form—Chinese Defending Peking—Honors to Parnell's Memory In Dublin.

Professor Leyden, the distinguished specialist, who has just returned from Spala, where he has been in attendance upon the czar in conjunction with Prof. Zacharin, replying to the request for a definite statement as to the nature of the illness of the czar, said distinctly: "His majesty is suffering from Bright's disease." After marching through the principal streets of the city the route was taken to Glasnevin cemetery, where the remains deposited hundred of beautiful wreaths on Parnell's grave. Thousands of persons visited the plat in which the great Irish leader is buried during the evening. There was no disorder. A feature of the day was the thousands of women who wore ivy leaves on their breasts or in their hair. In fact ivy leaves were universally worn.

BOAT WAS LAID ON THE TRACK, Train on the Southern Railroad Derailed And Many Persons Injured.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 8.—The west-bound Washington and Chattanooga vestibule limited train over the Southern railway was dashed to destruction at Vance's station, four and a half miles west of Bristol, at 1:15 yesterday afternoon. Fifteen passengers were injured, three it is thought fatally. The train consisted of all vestibule cars. It was drawn by compound passenger engine No. 254, the finest on the line, with Samuel Smith, the veteran engineer, at the throttle, and Capt. N. J. Bell, the oldest conductor on the road, in charge. At Vance's the engine struck a large bolt, placed on the track by some unknown person, and was thrown headlong on its side. Every car with the exception of the rear sleeper left the track and piled in a shapeless mass on the top of the engine. Miraculously to say only the train crew and eight passengers were seriously injured, but the other passengers were bruised slightly and badly shaken up.

Hardly had the passengers regained their senses and escaped from the train before fire from the engine and dining car kindled the ruins, and in less time than it takes to tell it the flames from the wreck were shooting heavenward. There was no means to check the mad progress of the fire and the entire train, with the exception of the New Orleans sleeper, was reduced to ashes, together with their contents, consisting of mail, baggage and express.

Immediately upon receipt of the information at headquarters here a special train was made up, which conveyed officials and surgeons to the scene of the accident, where the chief surgeon gathered a corps of assistants about him, and after attending to the wants of the injured and bleeding removed them to Bristol. The loss on the train will reach $60,000.

The officials of the road will use every effort possible to hunt down and bring the wreckers to speedy justice. It is almost unaccountable how so serious a wreck could occur without killing or badly injuring more people.

ONE KILLED AND SIX INJURED.

Shocking Street Car Accident in the City of Tacoma, Wash.

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 8.—A shocking street car accident occurred here about midnight last night. The car was returning from the interstate fair grounds and was crowded with passengers. A passenger named Chandler was standing on the front platform behind the motorman. As the wheels struck the crossing of North Second street the axle on the front truck broke near the right wheel. The car left the track, plunged along at an acute angle to the right of the rails for a good rod, and then fell on its left side. Mr. Chandler, who was then on the steps, fell underneath the car. The heavy wood and iron work struck his face, killing him instantly and crushing his head to a shapeless pulp. James F. O'Brien, another passenger, was forced down by the struggling mass of passengers. The iron roof of the car fell upon his right leg, pinioning him to the ground. Others were injured, either by falling from the platform, or by being thrown violently against the breaking glass of the windows.

BOSTON, October 8.—Messages are pouring in on the family of Oliver Wendell Holmes from all parts of the world. The funeral will probably be held Wednesday in Kings' Chapel. London papers speak most kindly of the dead poet. Dr. Holmes died at 1:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon of heart disease. He had not been well for some days, but it was not thought that he was in immediate danger, though he had suffered from heart disease for some years. He came back from his summer home at Beverly Farms about ten days ago, having spent the summer there, as was his custom. On Wednesday last the doctor was obliged to call the family physician, but it was not then thought that the doctor was in serious condition. Yesterday the venerable poet was not well and Dr. Putnam was again called. Dr. Holmes was nearly unconscious, but it was hoped that he would soon recover and the members of his family were not sent for. When the end came, at 1:45 p. m., there were present only Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr., and his wife. Besides this son Dr. Holmes leaves another son, Edward, and a daughter.

BLOODY KENTUCKY RACE WAR

Negrees and Whites shoot Each Other—Seven Are Reported Dead.

HAWESVILLE, Ky., Oct. 8.—As the excursion train from the Owensboro fair arrived at Powers station, a few miles west of this city, at 6 o'clock last night a terrible race fight occurred between thirty drunken negroes and a few white men, as a result of which seven negroes are said to have been killed. It seems the negroes became angered because they were forced to ride in the colored apartment and as they neared their home station they made a rush to get into the coach for white people. This frightened the women and timid men, who ran through the train. At this Deputy United States Marshal Moses Bullington, who had his family on the train, met the negroes and attempted to quiet them. The negroes then began shooting as they got off the train. Deputy Bullington and Squire Aldridge, both of this city, and Marshal Jones and Col. John Patterson of Lewisport, and half a dozen men named Atkins from this county then began firing into the negroes. As the train pulled out of one coach and the white men emptied all their guns into the negroes who were bunched on the platform. No one on the train was hurt, but it is thought at least seven negroes are dead and as many more injured. One white man on the train used his knife, which was covered with blood when he came in. These statements are from the lips of United States Marshal Bullington.

The funeral services were held in Central Music hall, and not a seat was vacant in the large auditorium, the streets outside being blocked with people for whom there was no room. Dr. Thomas of the People's church preached the funeral sermon and many of the most notable preachers of Chicago were on the platform or took part in the ceremonies. The funeral cortege was an immense one and showed the grasp this powerful and eloquent preacher had on the sympathies and lives of the people of Chicago. ## SPOONER WAS SICK BUT FULL OF FIGHT

LITTLE GIANT HAD A TREMENDOUS AUDIENCE.

Twelve Hundred People Crowded Into the Opera House and Four Hundred More Were Unable to Secure Admission—The Democratic Administration Mercilessly Flayed.

It was simply a question of how many could get inside the opera house. Twelve hundred succeeded. Four hundred failed and regretfully turned away.

John C. Spooner will never question the regard entertained for him by Janesville republicans.

Mr. Spooner came to the city under protest. His health has been very poor, and he begged off from all the other engagements following that tremendous and strength-consuming Milwaukee meeting. When he found he had been billed in Janesville, however, he said nobody should be disappointed and agreed to come. His voice told of the struggle he had made, as soon as he began to speak. It made manifest the physical weakness which the eloquent ex-senator was fighting; but it could not mar the splendid logic or dull the pitiless sarcasm with which he arraigned the democratic administration.

Mr. Spooner was the guest of Ogden H. Fethers while in the city. He was escorted from Mr. Fethers' house at 8 o'clock by a committee from the Young Men's Republican club. His appearance at the rear of the opera house stage was a signal for instant applause. Seated about him on the stage were Chairman W. T. Vankirk, Ogden H. Fethers, T. W. Goldin, M. G. Jeffris, A. A. Jackson, Cyrus Miner, Hamilton Richardson, B. F. Dunwiddie, H. A. Patterson, O. D. Rowe, W. A. Jackson, President H. S. Sloan, of the Young Men's Republican club, John Conley and J. G. Hartshorn of Clinton, and other well known republicans.

Mr. Spooner was introduced by Chairman Vankirk, and said in opening that he probably should call attention to many things that had been dwelt upon in the campaign of 1892.

"In the fashion of that campaign," he said, "men did not seem to believe these things as they do now."

Not a Time for Fireworks.

Mr. Spooner declared very emphatically that he should attempt no oratory and that he should punctuate his remarks with no campaign pleasantries. "This is no time for joking," he said, and a suppressed murmur from the audience sounded like "That's so. That's so!" The speaker suggested that times today were very different from 1892. Two years ago one could go from end to end of Wisconsin without finding homes where women were crying for bread. The time had come now when honest democrats should ask themselves which they cared for the more—party or country. Most business men would agree that when they had succeeded in their own affairs by following a certain policy for thirty years it would be foolish to change. Two years had proven that what was true of private affairs was true of the affairs of the nation.

Tariff and silver legislation was reviewed and the point made that repealing the bullion-purchase law did not affect trade except in the very slightest degree. Had that repeal been followed by the passage of a resolution that no change be made in the tariff for five years then the restoration of prosperity would have been instantaneous.

Mr. Spooner took occasion while referring to the tariff to say that he liked W. L. Wilson very much personally but he didn't take much stock in the grade of statesmanship that led Wilson to tell an English audience that the continued existence of the United States was by no means assured.

State affairs were handled vigorously. The rotten condition of affairs at Madison under the sway of the roster ring was thoroughly shown up, and the talk about "Upham and his coupons" was refuted in the most positive fashion. A moment's attention was also given to the scurrilous and groundless charge that republican success meant a return of interest money to ex-Senator Sawyer. Mr. Spooner spoke for nearly three hours, and was frequently interrupted by applause, although the audience was evidently following his words too closely to welcome any diversion even of so enthusiastic a sort.

MAN WHO LIVED ON A FARM.

A Janesville Merchant Does a Good Turn for a Cow and a Calf.

In a pasture on the Afton river road yesterday a motherly old cow, her udder swollen almost to bursting was keeping watch over a calf. The calf couldn't have known but a very few hours of conscious existence. It was only old enough to gaze with its great gentle eyes, and wonder what it was all about, anyhow; it was too weak to stand, and, of course, unable to make a requisition on the maternal fount for needed nourishment.

Matters are becoming serious—several persons had been there, but like the priest and the Levite on the road to Jericho had passed by on the other side.

Presently a business man drove slowly along. He took in the situation at a glance. To be sure it wasn't his cow nor his calf, nor his pasture, but forthwith he forgot that he was a business man and became a boy again on the old farm; his heart warmed toward the four legged mother and child. He knew just what was needed; he took hold of the calf, gently raised it and brought its little mouth to the cows udder and supported it there while it drew its first draught of milk. The bossy looked with suspicion at first on the man, as though she questioned what business he had with her calf, but her distrust soon gave place to a look of pleased surprise and relief as both she and the calf began to feel the mutual benefit of his interference.

In a few minutes the juvenile bovine had acquired strength enough, not only to stand alone, but even to cut one or two awkward capers in recognition of the man's help, and the gentle old cow began cropping the scant grass with signs of calm content, while her baby lay down to rest, and doubtless to reflect, that after all, this wasn't such a bad world to be born into, and the man went on his way probably to forget the incident.

CARPENTER WAS SET FREE.

Borrowed the Money to Pay Doctors for His Sick Wife.

W. H. Carpenter, who was arrested at the instigation of a Chicago detective for an alleged fraud upon a rich Chicago widow, was discharged by the Beloit justice who heard his case Saturday. Tears ran down his cheeks when he was set free.

"I must hasten back to Fond du Lac," he explained, "for my wife is dangerously sick and there is nobody to care for her. Why," he said, "this money that they say I took was borrowed for my wife's care and treatment. The woman holds my note for the amount and it was to save Mrs. Carpenter's life that I borrowed it."

He at once returned home pending proceedings for a requisition. He says he can soon clear himself of the charge against him.

COULD PEDDLE WITHOUT A LICENSE

Judge Bennett Has Decided an Important Case Affecting Cities.

Judge Bennett has decided in the Jefferson county circuit court that Solomon Holstein had a right to sell goods from house to house in Fort Atkinson without a license, and $50 damages was awarded him against the city officials for sending him to jail for ten days. This establishes a precedent for other cases as all towns have such an ordinance.

Pathos in the Editor's Appeal.

The "breach of promise" lawsuit which has been pending against the editor of this paper has been settled and in order to meet the payment of the stipulated sum we kindly ask that all who are indebted to the office to settle up and help us out. ## TO FIX 'PHONE RATES BY A STATE LAW

SUBSCRIBERS ANGRY AT THE PRESENT CONDITIONS.

An Appeal to the Next Legislature May Be Made—The Poor Service and the Cost of Metallic Circuits, the Cause Of the Trouble.

It is announced that at the next meeting of the legislature a measure may be introduced asking that body to fix the rate of charges of the Wisconsin Telephone company.

This step will be the outgrowth of a movement now being carried out by the telephone company to force Milwaukee subscribers to put in the metallic circuit service, for which a considerable extra sum is taxed against them. This is being done, many people claim, by the poor service that is furnished to subscribers who still cling to the original system. It is only by repeated ringing that a connection with central is finally established. Complaints made to the management, it is said, are met with the statement that the poor service is the fault of the old system, that the drop which denotes the call does not fall as it should and that the metallic circuit should be put in.

So frequent have been the necessity of making complaints that subscribers have been obliged to protest by letter to General Manager McLeod, who has been informed that unless the company gives better service the legislature will be applied to for relief.

It is stated that the plan regarding metallic circuits is along the line of the movement to tax users of druggists' telephones, which was defeated by the druggists. By the metallic circuit it is stated, the cost of operating the system will be greatly reduced, there being less weight in currents and other saving devices which foot up to quite a snug sum.

FIRE LIMITS, PAVING AND CITY COAL

Three Important Subjects to be Discussed By the Council Tonight.

The contract to pave East Milwaukee street, from Main to Division, will probably be let tonight. A contract for city coal will also be made and the "fire limit" ordinance is likely to be further amended so as to prevent the building of sheds in the limits without the permission of the council. The ordinance as it now stands, permits the building of sheds not exceeding twelve feet in height anywhere in the fire limits except on Main and Milwaukee streets. A cluster of these sheds or low frame buildings are as dangerous as some of the larger and higher frames, and it is proposed to bring these frame buildings wholly under the control of the common council.

BRILLIANTS.

We are never so strong as when we are thankful.

In proportion as people love they become unselfish.

When the heart speaks the whole man will say amen.

Great dangers surround the man whose life is aimless.

The fact that we oppose the good is proof that we are bad.

Keep the heart right and the feet will not go far astray.

Belief is the rudder by which the ship of life is directed.

It is possible to become bad under the best of circumstances.

There is nothing more cowardly than being afraid of the truth.

Many of the things we consider calamities are blessings in disguise.

Three precious things that many throw away: Time, money, and health.

We grow to be what we like. If we love the pure we are sure to grow in purity.

How easy it is to blame some people for doing things we scarcely notice in others.

There is no blacker kind of selfishness than that which wears the cloak of hypocrisy.

A SLUMP IN SUGAR IS CLOSE AT HAND

PRICES ARE CUT BY THE WHOLESALERS.

Local Grocers Inclined to Believe that the Deal is a Political One and Will Affect Quotations Until the November Elections and Not Very Much Longer.

Sugar is booked for a slump and Janesville will get the benefit. So said local grocers today. They made predictions cautiously, saying that it might be some time before the drop affected local sales. But they agreed that the influence must be felt and that eighteen pounds of granulated for a dollar would be the prevailing figure, sooner or later.

"This will be due to politics, more than to business," said one grocer. "Democratic speakers have been kept busy explaining the rise in sugar and I have an idea that they have gone to Havemeyer and insisted that he let up until after the congressional elections. From now until November you will see sugar very cheap. After that there will be less shifting and the price will slowly go up—perhaps an eighth of a cent at a time. The Milwaukee and Chicago deals Saturday were both plainly the work of the trust. Taking the guarantee away from the wholesale grocers made a disbanding certain."

Saturday morning granulated sugar was offered dealers at $5.06 per hundred and in the afternoon this price was modified to $4.30, a reduction of over three-quarters of a cent per pound, bringing the price down lower than it has been for a long, long time, if it is not the lowest that it has ever been offered to retailers.

What Milwaukee Jobbers Say.

Milwaukee jobbers charge that the cause which led to the agreement of abolishing the uniform rate is due to the action of the Chicago jobbers, who were in a similar association with which the Wisconsin association was connected. It is also stated that the uniform rule had the effect of building up small jobbers in small towns at the expense of the jobbers in the big cities. The small wholesalers in the small towns are able to sell sugar to the retailers in their vicinity, when the freight charges are necessarily small, at the same prices that the Milwaukee and Chicago dealers are. They are thereby enabled by making a slight profit on sugar to sell other articles cheaper, and so catch the local trades of their towns and vicinity, shutting out the jobbers of the big cities.

It is also announced that a furnace has been unearthed along the Nile in which hot blast was used centuries before the modern Neilson formulated the same idea.

One of the poorest of the lads who used to look with a sort of awe upon the fine old Kalleen castle (seat of the earl of Fingal) was Thomas Nevins, who was born and brought up in its neighborhood, near Dublin. Mr. Nevins, now a wealthy contractor of Orange, N. J., has just acquired the ownership of the castle for $300,000, and will take his family over to live in it. What's more, he will keep the stars and stripes floating over it, he says.

"There are indeed queer people in this world," Alphonse Daudet said recently. "For the last fifteen years every three months I have received a note, written with pencil, from the same man, who evidently is a great traveler, for his letters bear all the stamps of the world. He tells me that he trains animals to pronounce my name and then lets them go. When it snows he spends his time writing 'Alphonse Daudet' with the end of his cane, and I have never been able to find out who he is."

Don't Offer a Reward

For your lost appetite. All know that it is a valuable piece of personal property, but why go to the expense when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will restore it to you. A course of that unparelled tonic and corrective not only induces a return of the relish for food, but confers upon the stomach the power to gratify appetite with unobtrusive sensations afterward. For the purpose of quickening digestion, arousing a dormant liver or kidneys, and establishing regularity of the bowels, no medicine can exceed this genial family cordial, in which the purest and holiest of cures is modified by blending with it the elements of the highest efficiency. Avoid the fiery unalloyed stimulants of commerce as a means of or robbing inactivity of any of the organs above mentioned, and use, instead, the Bitters. [SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

No matter whether she walks to her daily toil or rides in her carriage in the park. No matter whether she is one of the millions or one of the few thousands.

Whatever her station in life may be, she is subject to the same physical laws, and suffers in proportion to their violation. Girls' oversensitiveness and modesty often puzzle their mothers and baffle the physician. They withhold what ought to be told.

Thousands have found health and comfort through the counsel of Mrs. Pinkham. If you are sick, write her at Lynn, Mass.

It cures displacement of the womb and all forms of disease arising from derangement of the organs. It is a remedy for woman, given by a woman.

FACTS.

Profit-sharing is practically what trading here amounts to. Every dollar you invest in merchandise pays you greater dividends in the form of savings than your money can earn in any other way. Buying advantageously is the greatest economy. This is the great underlying principle that actuates this store. Its great buying-power restricts prices, and profits that would otherwise be appropriated by capital. The store is with you, united in the bonds of mutual service.

Bargaining for Reduced Prices under the new financial conditions has been so successful as to practically give us the control of the local retail business. This is not an idle boast. Look about and see. The greater part of the community knows that this store has the power of producing in abundance what others lack; and that portion that does not know has a false conception of our responsibility and utterly fails to comprehend what a trade organization like this means to this city and this commonwealth. Our position on this question is unique enough to deserve the consideration of the thoughtful as well as the attention of the curious.

WE have received the past two weeks the largest and best general line of good, reliable Dry Goods and Carpets that ever came to Janesville in the same length of time.

OUR store is running over with novelties in all departments—hundreds of goods that cannot be seen elsewhere.

WHEN it comes to Values, we wish to remind you that we can sell you new, clean goods at lower figures than you can get at any sale.

WE have been head over heels, so to speak, unpacking new goods and getting them in stock for the past few days, but are gradually taking on a more store-like appearance.

WHEN you buy elsewhere without coming here, you fail to see just half of the dry goods there are in town, and that the best half. It is simply a money loss to buy many kinds of goods outside of this store. We make no wild statements, and keep the Quality Up.

DEBANS LASHED BY THE DEMOCRAT

Democratic papers of the hide-bound, Milwaukee Journal type don't know what to do with the Madison Democrat. The Democrat has been a democrat indeed since long before these youngsters were born. It has no patience with sham and pretense and says:

"It is a fraud upon the whole people to announce that times are again good, that business has recovered its former tone, that no more idle wheels exist in factories, and that general prosperity prevails. Commercial reports, bank statements, trade bulletins and market announcements show week after week that the ill effects of the great panic are still universally felt, that mills are closing, that wages remain low or are being reduced and that money in great quantities is lying idle simply for lack of ways of investment. To publish the contrary is to mislead and embarrass. It is likewise a lie to charge the republican gubernatorial nominee with oppressing his workingmen. From all accounts it really appears that he is a model employer, just, considerate and generous to his men. For this he should be praised, not denounced. It is also a fraud for partisan papers to deny that any attempt was made to steal through a roster job an enormous sum out of the state treasury. That rascality was too flagrant to be defensible."

CHEAP SUGAR FOR ONE MONTH.

Until the congressional elections are over there will be cheaper sugar. This is the word that was sent out from Philadelphia Saturday. The Sugar Trust realizes that its democratic friends are likely to get into serious trouble because of their work in the trust's behalf and Mr. Havemeyer doesn't forget favors. Not that the trust expects to lose anything, even temporarily. Oh, dear no! It simply pulls the guarantee out from under the feet of wholesale grocers and lets them fight for their lives. The grocers suffer, Mr. Havemeyer's dividends keep up the same as usual and the democratic orators will be given a chance to do something besides explain the boom in sugar quotations.

The servant girl has invaded politics. Senator McPherson says he will not seek a renomination in New Jersey, and nobody can avoid the idea that a disobedient domestic, who bought sugar stock for the senator against his express commands, is responsible for this retirement. That a lawless housemaid should rob the nation of so disinterested and patriotic a servant shows conclusively that the women who devote whole five o'clock teas to the hired-girl problem do not overestimate the importance of the subject.

EVEN IN ALABAMA!

In four of the nine congressional districts in Alabama the straight-out republican candidates will be supported by all the parties opposed to democracy, and in three of the four the republican prospects are good. The time is coming when Alabama, with its exceptional mineral wealth, will not support a party that keeps it in the background and blocks the way to its rightful development.

Evangelist Moody has begun a long series of meetings in Madison. Madison people seem to realize what four years' contact with democratic office holders has done. The case is not hopeless, however. One month of Moody and three months of a republican legislature this winter will put the capital in very good shape again.

The decisive character of the recent republican victories in New England is to be most plainly seen in the composition of the legislature elected. There were 139 democrats in the legislatures last chosen, whereas in the incoming ones there will be only eighteen, against 544 republicans and one populist.

Roger Q. Mills is making his speeches in Texas this year, where he evidently thinks they are needed to prevent the indignant democratic wool growers from electing several republican congressmen.

There has been a decline of from 11 to 16 per cent in the prices of different grades of wool since the tariff bill was passed, and this has been attended by a corresponding reduction of democratic votes in the wool-growing districts.

Secretary Morton's absence from the country makes the department of agriculture more satisfactory to the farmers than it has been at any previous time during this administration.

Mr. Cleve and his letter of congratulation to Senator Hill, seems to have been lost in the shuffle.

The pressure of water to the square inch upon the body of every animal that lives at the bottom of the deepest parts of the Atlantic ocean is about twenty-five times greater than the pressure that will drive a railroad train.

Horse runaways are unknown in Russia. No one drives in that country without having a thin cord with a running noose around the neck of the team. When an animal bolts this cord is pulled and the horse stops as soon as it feels the pressure on its windpipe.

The cry about alienism in the army has stirred the war department to an investigation of the nativity of officers and men. Ninety-nine per cent of the officers are citizens of the United States, as are 77 per cent of the non-commissioned officers and 75 per cent of the privates.

A Harvard man, discouraged by the many defeats administered by Yale, said he wondered if Harvard could beat Yale at marbles. A few minutes later two Englishmen who were present were heard to remark gravely on the childishness of American athletics when the great universities had contests with marbles. Another Englishman, in his note on America, tells of a man who said he had lost all his children but nine, and wonders what an enormous family the man must have had.

CHURCH AND SCHOOL ROBBED BY TOUGHS

FOURTH WARD HOODLUMS IN- VADE THE SANCTUARY.

They Empty the Contribution Box at St. Paul's, Then Break Into the Grant School and Make a Search of the Desks—Little Plunder Was Secured.

HOODLUMS broke into St. Paul's German Lutheran church Saturday night and robbed the contribution box of its small change. They also went to the Grant school house on Pleasant street, where they wrecked the large doors leading to the basement. They took their time in rifling the desks, but appeared to leave the pupils books unharmed, the only thing of value missed being a set of drawing instruments belonging to one of the teachers. They retired leaving the building open as it was found early Sunday morning by Janitor Dixon.

A cordial invitation is extended to all ladies to attend the meetings.

Two New Janesville Pastors.

Rev. Sabin Halsey delighted a large congregation at Court Street church Sunday morning and another large congregation received him in the evening. Mr. Halsey has much in his manner that reminds Janesville people of Rev. E. D. Huntley. His sermons yesterday justified the good reports that preceded him from Milwaukee. He was known there as a deep thinker, a man of much originality and one who held large congregations without a resort to sensational methods. Mr. Halsey went to Milwaukee today to arrange for the removal of his household goods to Janesville.

Rev. A. Porter preached his first sermon in the First M. E. church yesterday morning. He made a strong impression, and the members were free in expressing the opinion that Bishop Fowler had chosen well. Mr. Porter is laboring under difficulties in coming to his new field. Two weeks ago he buried his oldest son, a very bright boy of seventeen.

Special music marked the resumption of the Men's Sunday Evening club services at the Congregational church last night. E. C. Plumstead, a popular Detroit vocalist, aided the regular choir.

Potatoes Cheaper.

Before you engage your winter supply of potatoes, we think it would be advisable for you to see us as we will have 1,000 bushels of as fine potatoes here Wednesday, as ever were seen in Janesville. We bought them cheap, and will make especially low figures on ten to fifty bushel lots.

His Eighty Fourth Birthday Marked By a Handsome Gift.

John Nichols was eighty four years old Saturday, and in commemoration of the anniversary he was presented with a handsome leather trimmed chair and a table to match, the present being the gift of thirty-eight of his friends as follows:

John R. Bennett, J. W. Sale, M. G. Jeffris, John M. Whitehead, Archie Reid, S. Morgan, Marshall Richards, G. G. Sutherland, M. S. Pritchard, A. A. Jackson, William Smith, O. H. Fethers, John Winans, John Watson, B. B. Eldridge, L. F. Patten, Ed. F. Carpenter, M. M. Phelps, H. S. Sloan, J. C. Sloan, Dunwiddle, Goldin & Wheeler.

Mr. Nichols hardly shows his age and many friends will wish him many more years of happy useful life.

Mr. Nichols sends The Gazette this card:

"To the members of the Rock county bar and to those who acted with them, my unfeigned thanks are due for so generously remembering me on my eighty-fourth birthday by the present of a beautiful easy chair. It will continue to be a reminder to me of your goodness, while it relieves the feebleness of that part of our days which we are told are 'labor and sorrow.' Gentlemen, one and all, again and again, I thank you.

JOHN NICHOLS.

FORMER JANESVILLE MAN IS DEAD

David H. Babbitt, Who Helped to Establish the Town Clink Home.

A man who played a prominent part in the early history of Janesville died at Auburn, N. Y., September 58, in the person of David Hulbert Babbitt who came to Janesville from Cayuga county, New York, when the Bower City was a small hamlet. He was largely identified with all its early interests and was one of the most prominent business men. He with a few others organized the first state fair ever held in the state of Wisconsin, and he was one of the first real estate agents of the state. He was the author of the first index book used in the county clerk's office in the city of Janesville where he was associated in business for several years, and a few of the old residents that still survive, hold deeds of their farms written by him.

PAID NATURE'S LAST DEBT.

Mrs. Eliza Ryan.

Mrs. Eliza Ryan, widow of the late Edward Ryan, died at her home in the town of Plymouth, Sunday, of derangement of the stomach, aged sixty-three years. Mrs. Ryan had been a resident of Rock county for forty-five years, and had lived for the last forty-four years in the house where she died. She died peacefully, crowned by the many virtues which are included in the name mother, friend and neighbor. She leaves six sons and one daughter, her husband dying eleven years ago. The surviving children are Edward H. Ryan, Mrs. Daniel Ryan and William A. Ryan of this city; James M., Joseph A. and Ambrose T. Ryan of Plymouth, and J. F. Ryan, of Ohio.

The funeral will be held at 10 o'clock on Wednesday, at St. Patrick's church.

Funeral of Milo S. Palmer.

The remains of Milo S. Palmer were buried in Oak Hill Sunday afternoon. Funeral services were held at 4 o'clock at the home of Mrs. De Baun on Jackson street, Rev. Dr. M. G. Hodge of the Baptist church officiating, assisting in the song service by a quartet consisting of Mrs. C. B. Conrad, Mrs. E. M. Hyzer, C. F. Yates and William Bladen. The pall bearers were A. F. Hall, B. F. Dunwiddle, I. A. Whitin, J. C. Frendendall, H. S. Woodruff and Washington Kelly.

Old City in the Andes.

PANAMA, Oct. 8.—Word comes from Bogota that the remains of a prehistoric city have been discovered near the crater of the volcano of Purace, in the Andes mountains. The buried city covers hundreds of acres and contains the ruins of great buildings with immense granite columns. Remains of an aqueduct in an almost perfect state of preservation have also been found.

Delusion Leads to Murder.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—A sailor named Woods was shot and instantly killed early Saturday morning in the Waverly hotel by Mark Fagan, a professional nurse in the United States naval hospital at Philadelphia. Fagan was arrested. He claims that Woods had robbed him. The murder was the result of a delusion which arose either from whisky or sudden insanity.

Embezzler Allen Finally Arrested.

DES MOINES, Oct. 8.—H. F. Allen, wanted here for embezzling $2,000 from a syndicate represented by D. B. Lyons of this city, was arrested in New York yesterday as he landed from a steamer. Allen secured the money two years ago and has been in England since.

No Red Hat for Satelli.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The Rome correspondent of the United Press telegraphs a denial of the statement recently printed in the Paris Figaro that M. Satelli, papal ablegate to the United States, is to be made a cardinal at the papal consistory soon to be held.

WINTER STYLES.

Popularity of Plain Skirts and Those Awful Sleeves.

Plain skirts continue to appear on the majority of the new French models in spite of the acknowledged claims of double and draped styles. A close fit about the hips is essential, but this is made up for by increasing width around the bottom. The fashionable skirt touches the ground all the way round, but does not drag.

Tailor made styles are as much in vogue as ever. Gowns of this sort are the most useful ones for everyday street wear, as they always look neat and have no frills to become shabby in dampness and dust. An extensive variety of goods suitable for these costumes is shown this fall in dull reds, blues and greens as well as in the older tan and mode colors. Large and small buttons of cut smoked pearl, with rows of stitching, are the accepted trimming.

Round waists, worn with a belt, continue in favor. Pointed corsets are also seen, although the novelty of these is long outworn. Tight fitting Eton jackets, with wide revers, are to be employed as outer garments and will be made up in fur, astrakhan cloth and similar thick goods. As an example of how extremes sometimes meet in fashion may be cited the fact that long redingotes, extending nearly to the foot of the gown, will also be worn this winter.

No new departure is noted in sleeves. An exaggerated gigot style prevails, very full above the elbow and very tight below. Less often the upper part consists of one or more separate puffs, sometimes ornamented with bows and bands. The high close collar is universal.

The illustration shows a toilet of flax blue glace silk. The skirt and bodice are perfectly plain. The cape has a yoke, pointed behind and square in front, on which are mounted two ruffles. From the front of the yoke fall two long stole ends. The yoke itself is trimmed with jet passementerie and pendent tassels of jet.

TRAVELING COSTUMES.

A Style That Women Should Strenuously Decline to Receive.

It used to be a canon of dress that simplicity ought to be the chief feature of traveling costume. Folds and frillings and garters were forbidden as receptacles for inviting and retaining the inevitable dust of railways. But now there is a change.

Even the tablier is sometimes seen, and the polonaise has been adopted in more than one instance. Women should strenuously decline this form of skirt trimming. It is heavy, useless, by no means invariably decorative and absolutely senseless. There is some little meaning in panners, but none in polonaises. The former give shape and dignity to very thin, angular figures, preventing them from showing that straight line up and down which is such a foe to grace. But the polonaise, or double skirt, adds warmth where it is least needed and makes it difficult, sometimes impossible, to hold the skirt free of the mud or dust of the roads. The ideal traveling costume is light, easily donned, as easily doffed and is made of a material that does not crease or wrinkle.

Some sort of an outer garment is always required on a journey, even in warm weather, and a smart traveling gown appears all the smarter if the coat or cape matches it. On occasions of sufficient importance to warrant a special traveling gown it is worth while to complete the costume by an appropriate wrap. Capes of medium length, single, double and triple, are liked by many persons, while others prefer a short coat, plainly made in tailor fashion. Women who dislike severe styles often have a lined coat made of the dress material and allow themselves a becoming latitude in cut and trimming. A costume jacket of the latest style is shown in the cut. It is of cloth like the gown and has a long basque and an immense flaring collar. The cuffs, which reach to the elbow, and the vest may be made of the same or different material.

Etiquette on a Royal Yacht.

Captain Carter, who sails the Prince of Wales' yacht Britannia, was sitting with a number of other yacht captains after one of the Britannia-Vigilant races, and the conversation turned on the reception of royalty. "Well," said the captain, "I ought to know something about it. Last week the prince came aboard with the princess and the two daughters. The prince says, 'Carter, my wife and two daughters.' So I said, 'Hope you're quite well, ma'am, and the same to you, misses.'"—Philadelphia Press.

HOW'S BUSINESS?

THE question is on every one's lips. The times are a bit stormy, we all know, and that condition "makes us think of economizing. We must economize in all our expenses, especially clothing, and as the elderly gentleman says to his newly married young friend, "Well you can do all that, if you buy your clothing at ZIEGLER'S."

OVERCOATS

..... ARE CHEAP.
